St. Monica: August 27

Saint Monica (331–387 AD) was an early Christian saint from North Africa, best known as the deeply devoted mother of St. Augustine of Hippo. She is celebrated for her profound patience, perseverance in prayer, and her major role in the conversion of her husband and her famous son. She is recorded for saying on her deathbed, “Lay this body anywhere, and take no trouble over it. One thing only do I ask of you, that you remember me at the altar of the Lord wherever you may be.”

St. Augustine of Hippo: August 28

Bishop and Doctor of the Church

St. Augustine of Hippo (354–430 AD) was a North African bishop, philosopher, and theologian whose writings profoundly shaped Western Christianity. Born in Tagaste (modern-day Algeria), he lived a restless early life before converting to Christianity in 386 AD. He later served as the Bishop of Hippo from 396 until his death. His mother was St. Monica, who constantly prayed for his conversion.
